

Hopkinsville Kentucky.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY CHAS. M. MEACHAM.
Subscription $1 a Year in Advance

Entered as second-class mail matter, June 18, 1902, under Post Office No. 112, at Hopkinsville, Ky., under special permission of Post Office at Washington, D. C., for delivery by mail as second-class matter.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1902

IT IS CONCEALED

That the school children will all be sorry when next Monday arrives.

That Sam Jones' mortars are going to draw like a positive plaster.

That the O. V. railroad is bringing new business to Hopkinsville every day.

That 1893 is going to be the most prosperous year in the history of Hopkinsville.

That the planters are going to look so handsomely from their tobacco crop this year.

That Jim Riekman would handle the reins over the city's big Norman to a queen's mate.

That the Kentucky is the best and liveliest paper in the State outside of the large cities.

That everybody is glad to admit that the lights are a grand new for street lighting.

That Capt. Tom Banks will resume his old run on the Nashville Accommodation January 1st.

That E. M. Flack will be the next State Senator from this district, to be elected next November.

That B. M. Flippin, the O. V. Agent, is going to prove to be a tip top man for his company.

That Henry Richards is the most enthusiastic man in town over the Jones meeting next week.

That Jim Yancy is going to re-build his house in the spring so better site than the old one had.

That Abernathy & Gant are a good team of young, enterprising and thoroughly reliable tobacco men.

That the taxable property of Christian county is going to total up $10,000,000, an increase of $300,000.

That the live merchants all increased their holiday trade this year and are consequently feeling good.

That Jim Anderson did not make a bad move when he occupied his elegant new home in the bottom.

That Byron West is going to make an active, intelligent and working member of the Board of Commissioners.

That Dr. Bentley is going to have some public improvements in the Third ward, or break a lance-string.

That we had a typical Christmas with the frozen ground, but with snow and glimpses of sunshine over him.

That George Gray is proving a very valuable man for Forbes & Bore, and their business is showing a steady increase under his excellent management.

That Major Withers is going to continue from the Seventh Ward and occupy Mayor as long as he will.

That Ragdale & Cooper did the handsome thing in letting the Jones meetings be held in their big warehouse for lodgings.

That Connelton Forbes, Pluck, Dalton and Withers, who will enter upon their third term next Tuesday, deserve the kindest endorsement the people gave them.

France is still trembling on the verge of a crisis, that may wreck her republican form of government.

The Republican Supreme Court of Montana has counted out a Democrat and given the Republicans control of the Legislature, although it had to reverse a decision that ousted the Democrats two years ago in order to do it.

Scribner's Magazine, for January, begins its thirteenth volume and sets forth a year, for which many important features are announced, and which will make this first appearance in this number. Serial fiction will be a feature of the year, with such writers as Francis Hodgson Burnett, H. C. Butler, Robert Grant, Harold Frederic, and Miss Edith, the author of "Jenny." In this number the serial "The Life of the One I Knew" by the author of "The One I Knew" is a charming bit of autobiography, covering the childhood of the author's childhood and youth up to the position of her first story. It is believed that this story will do for the child life of a girl very much what was done by Dickens in "David Copperfield" for the life of a boy.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures catarrh of the bladder, prostate gland, and the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and by assisting nature in doing its work. The preparation has no harmful effect, no weakening of powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for List of Testimonials. SHE SHOT TO KILL.

Jennie Whitfield Slays Her Paragon in Caldwell County.

The Tough Daughter of a Tough Irishman.

A killing occurred on Dec. 15, near McGowan, a station on the O. V. Railroad, just in the edge of Caldwell county. The locality is a remote and inaccessible one and the news of the killing did not reach the outside world for several days.

It was received Sunday by the Kentucky's efficient correspondent in the States' Mill district of this county.

Jennie Whitfield shot and killed Bud Adams, her paragon. The woman was a daughter of the notorious John Chambliss who was killed by E. C. Hopper in 1883. Chambliss was gunning for Hopper, but the latter was as active as a cat and ran under the gun, knocked it out of Chambliss' hands and securing the weapon killed the bully with his own gun. Hopper was acquitted at his examining trial. Jennie Chambliss married John White, held several years ago and she is now about 30 years old. After living with Whitfield some years, Bud Adams took up with her and the two were married. Adams and Adams lived with the woman. On the day mentioned Adams whipped one of the woman's children by Whitfield, which so enraged her that she picked up a revolver and shot him without a word. He was instantly killed by a bullet in the brain. At last accounts no arrests had been made.

The woman is homely and freckled, though in looks as well as in character. There would have been but little regret of the whole set had been destroyed.

Peo Des.

Peo Des, Dec. 20.—Having seen nothing from this week of the Jones meeting next week, I have concluded to drop you a few items.

Mr. J. C. Marquis has returned from the old stand at Peo Des.

Mr. T. P. Ford has moved his stock of goods to B. B. Nance's mill, where he will do business the coming year.

Mrs. F. J. Northrup has two sick for a while, but is improving slowly.

Miss Mattie Walker's school at this place will close the 31st inst. She is going to Peo Des.

Mr. C. N. Edwards is in the bottom business talks and is being pretty liberally and paid a fair price.

Mrs. G. W. Jones still remains "sick" and is under treatment for nearly a year.

Mr. B. B. Nance has recently had his mill rebuilt by Mr. Henry Richards' new crew.

Miss Lucille Dickson will be home Christmas from school and will have somebody with her.

Mr. Miller has recently received from home. He is glad to have him with us again.

Mr. B. F. Harrison and Mr. Francis Lewis will be citizens of Peo Des next year.

Peo Des.

Workingmen's Magazine.

The publishers of Workingmen's Magazine, Hartford, Conn., would call attention to the new periodical, the initial number of which will come out of January, 1903.

We believe that "the new magazine" at the top, and it is a high-class, progressive, wide-awake journal, that Workingmen's Magazine represents the field, determined from the outset to take and to keep an honorable place.

It will be essentially a home magazine, every day, from leading articles down to a rhyme for the child to a poem for the adult, every page prepared with reference to home and family life, every page will be instructive, inspiring and entertaining.

As an ever welcome supplement to the work of the good for all, it is hoped to enter thousands of homes and to win the respect and affection of all the people.

Every number will contain illustrated articles of general interest and permanent value, written by well-known authors, and will be fully and appropriately illustrated in the best and most attractive style of modern art. Its fiction will be wholesome, cheerful and elevated in tone; its poems refined, and pervaded by its noble sentimentality; and the younger members of the family, even the very youngest, will always find something bright and inviting in pages set apart specially for their use.

Its distinctive purpose, cheapness, usefulness with teaching value and stimulating value, should be clearly apparent.

REVENUE, 1902.

Next Sunday meetings to begin the Sam Jones movement in the town. It is probable that all of the churches will unite in making the meetings union services on both Sundays that Mr. Jones will be here. Great outpourings of people are expected all through the meetings. People from the country can have their wraps checked in the building by George McKee, the janitor.
